

Applying the Augmenting Path Algorithm to a Maximum Flow Problem

Determine the maximum flow from source node 1 to sink node 6 in the following network (where the capacities of each arc are listed near them) by applying the augmenting path algorithm. We will then use information from the last residual network to identify the minimum cut.

